ANNOUNCEMENTS

AT THE MAJESTIC ROOF,

As an extra added feature, the man-agement of the Majestic Roof will run a cabaret show nightly, starting next and for the remainder of the week, with a complete change on Thursday. For the first half of the week the three Gay Sisters will furnish the cabaret entertainment and will work both on the stage which has been erected in front of the picture curtain and on the floor around the tables. A ranway will be constructed over the seats and leading from the stage. This seats and leading from the stage. This also will be used by the entertainers. Jacobs' orchestra, which is furnishing music for the dancing, will also play the song numbers for the cabaret artists. The Gay Sisters will appear twice nightly, at $.30 and 9.45.

On the picture programme for Monday and Tuesday will be three excellent photoplays, the feature being a drama entitled An Old Man's Folly, produced by the Knickerbecker Star produced by the Knickerbocker Star Feature company and released on the General Film programme. Other pictures on the bill will be For Better or Worse and Otto's Legacy, a Lubin comedy reel. The doors open now at 7 o'clock instead of 7.30, and the pictures start at 7.30 and the dancing at 8 colocks.

The Mysteries of Myra, other picture features and dancing will be the at-Admission 15c.

BREED THEATRE.

Mme. Petrova, the foremost emo-tional actress of the stage or screen, in The Scarlet Woman, a five part Meiro wonderplay, is the feature at the Dreed theatre today. The Scarlet Woman was written especially for Mme. Petrova, as are all &I the distherive photodrams in which she is now appearing. They are made with a view to permit her the fullest disof her wonderful dramatic powers for this reason her productions ilways have a distinction and appeal and far this reason her preductions always have a distinction and appeal that is all their own.

On Monday and Tuesday of next week the Freed will present the great Prancis X. Eushman and his delightful and charming co-star, Beverly Payne, in The Wall Between, a thulling romance of army life from the pen of Ralph D. Paine. It is not too much to say that Mr. Fushman, despite his numberless successes on the screen, in his injustify delincation of the sturdy and resolute character of Sergeant Mondail, the enlisted man, who dares and suffers much for the sake of principle, as well as for the girl of his his heart's desire, has achieved one of the most notable triumphs of his career. Miss Payne, as always, is supreme in her portralay of the gentle, lovible maiden. Admirers of both stars will find in The Wall Between all that appealed to them in Pennington's Choice, and were mean to mean means and means and means and that appeals the term in Pennington's Choice, and were means means and means and means and that appeals the term in Pennington's Choice, and were means means and the present were means and the page of the page pealed to them in Pennington's Che

DAVIS THEATRE NEXT WEEK.

For the first half of next week the For the first half of next week the miningement of the Davis will offer a aug bill of Keith vanderille and Triningle photoplays and one that promises to uphold the reputation of the house in every respect. The feature attraction is Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Will, a clever pair of English enteralisms, who present a nevel comedy shadowgraph offering that is entirely different from anything ever seen here. The other act is Billsbury and Robinson, two clever misses who present a singing character change act entitled litts of Musical Comedy.

The Triangle feature on this bill is ner arruggie for existence among the narrow minded bigots in the town and of her ultimate discovery that the old looper of the light—the only mortal who forgives her sin and receives her into his care—is her father. It is made powerful by the pathos of its situailons and is acreeably relieved by the intermittent touches of quaint comedy. To compliste the show there is a real fromy two reel Keystone comedy called A Social Cub, with Bobble Vernon starred.

DAMAGED GOODS AT THE

DAVIS THEATRE TODAY. Continuous Performance from 1.30 to 10,30,

Owing to the big demand for seats to see Damaged Goods, the big seven part photoplay, there will be a continuous performance at this theare often of the secondary from 1.30 to 10.26. This will give everyone a chance to see the picture, and this will be the last chance anyone will have to see it, as the film is taken off the market on Sept. 1st. The contract the producers have expires at that time, and it is doubtful if the picture will ever be shown again in this part of the country. Damaged Goods is a photoplay with a great leasure for both young men and women. It tells in an artistic way the evils of immeral living and shows the result that time has on the breaker of the moral law and what the effect is on his children are depicted in this wonderful picture. No photoplay ever seen have has attracted such crowds or created more talk. Everyone who has seen it declares that it is a great truth and one everyone origin to see and take notice to its convincing object lesson.

Y. M. C. A. Mass Meeting.

The local Y. M. C. A. has arranged very attractive mass meeting for men and women at 5 p. m. tomorrow in the large store of the Thuyer building. This will take the place of the open air service as it has been found that the great noise made by the street traffic interferes seriously with the open air meeting.

On this occasion those who attend this occasion those who attend will have the pleasure of hearing Rev Clarence Gallup of Providence, R. I. whose messages are always popular, and the fact that Mr. Gallup is a native of Norwich lends an added interest to this particular meeting. In addition to the address Swahn's orchestra will render appropriate selec-tions and will also accompany the

POETRY

THE CALL TO "ATTENTION." Humbly Inscribed to the Honorable the Members of U. S. Congress.)

Arouse, my country, think and act: Old Earth's ablaze with war's helb fire: To keep thy holy truce intact Beware of demons spewing irel ect calmly, wisely, manfully,

Yet quickly, wasting not an hour
ssume thy native dignity—
Rise to a test of sovereign power.

Inter Voice:
Blow softly the bugle,
Roll lightly the drum;
Invite not the fray till
The foe shall have come;
But form and make ready,
With guns on the fort,
With powder mills grinding,
And dreadnaughts at port.

Long may we be from war preserved With all its ghastly bloodliness; But lasting peace is best conserved

By unmistaken readiness.
Then let the battlesnip be built
And manned by gunners trained and bold:
And lest we fall in the result,
Increase the army sevenfold.

Sound softly the warning,
Tap lightly the drum;
We know not the moment
The spoiler may come
To wreck our coast cities,
On a madman's pretense,
While we be unable
To wage a defense!

Arouse, my country, cease to think
Of safety in a Hague's poor worth
A treaty may be worth its ink
If signed before the camon's mouth
The welcome day is far away
When war may scourge this world
no more;
Fill greedy man doth God obey
The sword shall gleam and rifle roen

Oh, sound the call softly,
With peace as our prayer,
For the nation's defense
It's high time to prepare
To stand at "attention."
With guns on the fort,
With powder mills grinding
And dreadnoughts at port.

When cultured nations mock the Christ And herd no more the Prince of Peace; and fulse to all but hell's device, Blood-stain their hards and ming the seas, it's time to dush Utopian dreams, And like our noble fathers stand, none white wall of rifle-gleams, Around our dear loved native land,

Then pass the word softly,
Arouse not the foe.
For war is unholy
And pregnant with woe.
Just come to "attention."
With guns on the fort,
With powder mills grinding
And dreadnaughts at port.
—George W. Kettoman.
